Our store is located in historic Potters Yard on County Street in downtown Bennington – just 1 block east of Route 7 or 4 blocks north of Route 9. We are 37 miles east of Albany, NY and 13 miles north on Rte. 7 from Williamstown, MA. We are worth a trip from anywhere. Come and visit. Potters Yard is the oldest, largest craft pottery in the U.S. and is Vermont’s top outlet for pottery and decorative accessories. Come for a free pottery tour to see heirloom pieces being created!

Mailing List Maintenance

We occasionally make our list available to carefully screened Vermont companies. If you prefer to have your name withheld, please send your mailing label and those instructions on to us.

Please Note: Offers and specials in our catalog may not be available or represented in all of our stores or authorized outlets. Catalog prices are guaranteed until December 31, 2007.

Potters rock on in their 1948 vehicle!

Bennington, Vt. — Bennington Potters new catalog carries many new designs and product offerings as well as the company’s tried and true favorites – the classics.

The emphasis on the company and the people of the company shown in this year’s catalog marks a fresh start for the 58 year old company. The cover feature of the buildings here in Bennington is designed to invite visits. The group photo of the entire company underlines the fundamental fact: these are the people who make all the pottery in the catalog and they would love for two things to happen. They would love to show off their work and how it is done, and they would love to thank everyone personally for supporting an American craft pottery and its potters.

The company team, consisting of 3 sections – the pottery with 12 full-time potters, the sales and marketing group of 6 full-time and 12 part-time members, and a general staff of 2 full-time and 3 part-time people – have now found their stride and have taken up what David Gil has set down. Gil, founder, owner-operator, designer, company architect, head of sales and marketing, all time problem solver, and one-time Alfred (NY) University student, took the company from a one man operation up to 75 persons then back to 43 over the 54 years of his span and left big shoes to fill. The members of his company have taken his brain-child – Potters Yard and the pottery works – and his designs, hundreds of them – and his decisions, thousands and thousands of them – and made them their own, conserved, rearranged and changed them. It is a thing to see and they are proud of it. It is worth the trip to Bennington.
